Using Interagency Transition Teams to Achieve Successful Post-school Outcomes for Youth with Disabilities

Robert A. Stodden
National Center on Secondary Education and Transition Center on Disability Studies, University of Hawaii at Manoa

Teleconference Call
December 1, 2004 • 1:00 – 2:00pm Central Standard Time
Areas of Discussion

A. Background on Interagency Transition Teams
   • What are Interagency Transition Teams
   • Why do we have Interagency Transition Teams

B. Important Elements of Interagency Teams
   (slide 3)

C. Guiding Principles for a Quality Interagency Team
   (slide 4)

D. Essential Tool on Interagency Transition Teams

E. Preparing Team Leaders for Summit 2005
B. Elements of Interagency Transition Team

- Building an Effective Team
- Establishing a Common Purpose
- Formalizing Roles and Responsibilities
- Conducting Team Meetings
- Judging Progress and Effectiveness
C. Guiding Principles for Effective Teams

- Demonstrates a shared collective vision
- Empowers all its members
- Demonstrates shared decision making
- Demonstrates synergy
- Highly regards diversity
- Fosters inclusion & participation
- Facilitates growth & progress
- Is responsive & authentic
- Is dynamic & fluid
D. Essential Tool & Summit Preparation

1. Dissemination of Essential Tool
2. Preparation for Summit 2005 (June)
   - Team Leader Workshops
   - Teleconferences
   - Preparation for Summit Role

Input to: stodden@hawaii.edu
Summit Web site: http://www.ncset.org/summit05/